

The Daily Astorian.

VOL. XX, NO. 49.

ASTORIA, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1883.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

CUTTING TIMBER ON PUBLIC LANDS.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DISTRICT OF OREGON.

FRIDAY, NOV. 23, 1883.

United States vs. Charles Williams, William Williams, B. J. Pengra—No. 932. Action for damages for cutting timber on the public land.

United States vs. Charles Williams, B. J. Pengra—No. 933. Same.

1. Cutting timber on the public lands. Section 4 of the act of June 3, 1878 (20 Stat., 39), prohibits the cutting of any timber on the public lands with intent to dispose of the same; but the proviso thereto permits a settler under the pre-emption and homestead acts to clear his claim as fast as the same is put under cultivation, and the timber cut in the course of such clearing may be disposed of by the settler to the best advantage.

2. Idem. But if such settler cuts timber on his claim with the intent to dispose of the same and not merely as a means of preparing the land for tillage, he is a willful trespasser and is liable accordingly.

3. Damages for cutting timber. The measure of damages in an action for cutting timber on public lands, in case the trespass is involuntary and not willful, is the value of the timber in the tree; but where the trespass is willful, the value of the labor put upon it by the trespasser must be added to the value in the tree, with interest thereon in either case.

4. Trespass by mistake. The defendant claims to have taken up a homestead on the northwest quarter of section 22, of township 19, and while intending to cut saw logs thereon with intent to dispose of the same, did by mistake cut said logs on the northeast quarter of said section. Held, that if the defendant had intended to cut logs on the northeast quarter, as he intended, it would have been a willful trespass, and, therefore, his mistake was immaterial, and he was liable to the United States for the value of said logs as a willful trespasser.

5. Damages. The value of the timber cut on the northeast quarter of section 22, of township 19, south, of range one west of the Wallamet meridian, 900,000 feet of timber of the value of $1,800; and in No. 933, between April 1, 1882, and July 13, 1883, there was cut and removed from the same tract 600,000 feet of timber of the value of $2,000.

The defendants, Charles and William Williams, in case 932, answered jointly, admitting the cutting and removing of timber to said saw mill, as alleged, of 200,000 feet of timber, and said Charles, in case 933, answered admitting the cutting and removing of 600,000 feet by him; and alleging in both cases that such cutting and removing was done by mistake as to the locality of said timber; that it was only worth twenty-five cents a thousand feet in the tree, and they bring into court in satisfaction of the damages thereby sustained by the plaintiff the sum of $50 in the one case and $150 in the other.

The defendant Pengra answered separately, denying the allegations of the complaint, and the actions were dismissed as to him.

The cases were afterwards submitted to the court for trial without a jury, upon an agreed statement of the facts or evidence in the case. From this statement it appears that section 23 of said township is unreserved, but it has not been public land since prior to 1881, and that at the time the defendants cut the timber on section 22 of said township, they had authority to cut and remove timber from said section 23; that said section 22 is public land, the west half of which was surveyed before this timber was cut thereon, and the line on the north side thereof was run between it and section 15 and sections 23 and 14; that on May 1, 1882, Charles Williams was still the owner of a tract of land—the quantity of which is not stated—adjoining the northeast quarter of said section 22, and that in said month of May said Charles "took up a homestead claim" thereon, as he supposed, but which was, in fact, on the north west quarter of said section; that said northwest quarter section and the land so taken for a homestead were fit for tillage when the timber was removed, and said Charles took the latter "for the purpose of preparing the same for tillage, and for that purpose removed therefrom in the spring and summer of 1882, 600,000 feet of timber, in good faith, for the purpose of preparing said land for tillage," and in neither case was said timber cut with any intention of trespassing on the public lands or taking timber therefrom unlawfully; and that all of said timber was cut into logs on the land, and was worth twenty-five cents a thousand in the tree, and seventy-five cents a thousand in the log and no more.

Under the tract set of March 2, 1881 (4 Stat. 472, § 2433 B. S.), the cutting or removal of any timber from the public lands, other than for the use of the United States, was absolutely prohibited, under a penalty of not less than three times the value of the timber and imprisonment not exceeding twelve months.

But the court treated the pre-emption, homestead and mining acts, subsequently passed, as laws upon the same subject, by which the latter act was modified, so as to permit the occupants of the public lands, under these several acts, to cut and remove timber therefrom for the purposes for which they were thus permitted, but not otherwise. And the timber so cut might be disposed of rather than destroyed. U. S. vs. Nelson, 5 Saw. 68.

On June 3, 1878, congress passed a special timber act (20 Stat., 39) for the Pacific states. The first three sections of this act provide for the sale of the unreserved public lands, suitable chiefly for timber, but land for cultivation. Section 4 provides that after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful to cut or cause or procure to be cut or wantonly destroy any timber growing on any land of the United States, in said states, or remove or cause to be removed, any timber from such public lands with intent to export or dispose of the same, under pain of imprisonment as therein provided, with a proviso that nothing therein shall prevent any miner or agriculturalist from clearing his land in the ordinary course of his mining claims or preparing his farm for tillage, or from taking the timber necessary to support his improvements.

This proviso does not apply to any but lawful settlers on the public lands under the pre-emption, homestead or mining acts, and securing a farm for tillage. But in either case, by this proviso, Congress in effect declared, as the courts had held, that notwithstanding the general prohibition against cutting timber on the public lands, such settlers might cut timber thereon in the ordinary course of working a mine or preparing a farm for tillage. But in either case the cutting of the timber must be subordinate, if not merely incidental to the mining or cultivation. The latter must be used as a check or pretext for the former. U. S. vs. Smith, 8 Saw. 197.

This proviso does not license the cutting of timber for the purpose or with the intention of disposing of the same. The section expressly forbids this, and the proviso does not allow it. A mere settler on the public lands has no right, as such, to cut timber thereon for the purpose of disposing of it by sale or otherwise. And yet I think the act of 1878 ought to be construed as authorizing a settler to dispose of timber which he cuts in good faith for the purpose of clearing his land for present cultivation. Whatever timber it is necessary to cut to prepare the land for tillage, the settler ought to be allowed to dispose of it to the best advantage to himself—to sell it rather than destroy it.

But this is a privilege, and the measure of damages to do so is very strong. Therefore it ought not to be allowed except upon clear proof that the tillage or cultivation has been peace, here by force or field by field, with the cutting and removal. Otherwise the public lands will soon be pillaged of their valuable timber by the contractors and vandals of the government, and the government will be reduced to a mere paper title. The finding in this case will be that the plaintiff is entitled to recover the value of the timber after it was cut into logs—$420, with interest from December 31, 1882, and if the case stated had gone on for next month and probably eight, the measure of damages would have been the value of the logs when delivered at the saw mill in Springfield.

In Woodman v. Co., U. S. 101 U. S. 432, it was held by the supreme court that in an action to recover damages for cutting and carrying away timber from the public lands, the rule for measuring the value of the timber is as follows:—(1) When the defendant is a willful trespasser, the full value of the property at the time of bringing the action, with an deduction for the labor and expenses of the plaintiff; (2) When the defendant is an unintentional or mistaken trespasser, the value at the time of the conversion, less the amount which such trespasser has added to its value.

It is admitted that the timber in question was cut and removed from the public land unlawfully. But it is claimed that the defendants were not willful but the result of a mistake, and therefore the damages ought to be confined to the value of the timber in the tree.

On the agreement it was specifically admitted by the counsel for the plaintiff that the timber cut by the defendants in the summer of 1881, was cut by mistake. But it is not apparent how the mistake was made; nor is it shown that any pains or care was taken to prevent or avoid the mistake. If the mistake was the result of carelessness or indifference, it was not willful but the result of a mistake, and therefore the damages ought to be confined to the value of the timber in the tree.

On the agreement it was specifically admitted by the counsel for the plaintiff that the timber cut by the defendants in the summer of 1881, was cut by mistake. But it is not apparent how the mistake was made; nor is it shown that any pains or care was taken to prevent or avoid the mistake. If the mistake was the result of carelessness or indifference, it was not willful but the result of a mistake, and therefore the damages ought to be confined to the value of the timber in the tree.

There is no fact or circumstance in the case tending to show that the defendant ever attempted in good faith to make a farm on either the northeast or west quarter section. Incidentally, it is mentioned in the statement of facts that he built a house on the northeast quarter, but for aught that appears it was a mere log cabin; but there is no evidence of residence or cultivation or even intent to do so. The land was surveyed, but the defendant does not appear to have made any application or filed any statement in the land office, evidencing his intention to make a homestead thereon. In short, nothing was done on either quarter section but what is consistent with the idea that the defendant was upon the land simply as a "logger engaged in getting out logs for the Springfield saw mill."

But admitting that the defendant was actually on the northeast quarter for the purpose of clearing it and homestead, that fact did not entitle him to cut timber from it with intent to dispose of the same, or otherwise, only so fast and far as he put the land to cultivation. It is not possible to lay down any absolute rule as to how near the cultivation should keep to the clearing, how close the plow shall follow the axe, but it is clear that whoever cuts timber on the public lands and removes it therefrom or disposes of it must be prepared to show that he is a lawful settler thereon, and that the timber was cut for the purposes of clearing and cultivating the land and not otherwise. And in case the timber is sold or otherwise disposed of for gain, the better clearing is ahead of the cultivation that it was cut with such intent and not to prepare the land for tillage.

If the defendant then had cut this timber upon his alleged homestead, it would, under the circumstances, have been a willful trespass. His mistake is immaterial. It only amounts to this, that whenever he intended to trespass upon the northeast quarter, he inadvertently got over the line and trespassed upon the northeast quarter.

But it is claimed that the defendant acted in good faith, and it is so admitted in the statement. This is not a man by nature to repeat the inference from the circumstances, that the defendant was a willful trespasser. But this general statement of good faith is necessarily qualified by the admitted facts of the case. Judged by these, it may be admitted that the defendant so far acted in good faith that when he was cutting on one quarter he thought he was cutting on the other. And this is probably as far as it was intended to go. But the facts of the case prevent the conclusion that he could have honestly believed that he was entitled to cut timber from the northeast quarter. The timber on these lands probably cost the settler his chief value. Ample provision is made for their sale to those who want to purchase them, and also for the use of the timber by the miner and agriculturalist who settle upon them for these purposes. But to cut to prepare the land for tillage, the settler ought to be allowed to dispose of it to the best advantage to himself—to sell it rather than destroy it.

On the agreement it was specifically admitted by the counsel for the plaintiff that the timber cut by the defendants in the summer of 1881, was cut by mistake. But it is not apparent how the mistake was made; nor is it shown that any pains or care was taken to prevent or avoid the mistake. If the mistake was the result of carelessness or indifference, it was not willful but the result of a mistake, and therefore the damages ought to be confined to the value of the timber in the tree.

On the agreement it was specifically admitted by the counsel for the plaintiff that the timber cut by the defendants in the summer of 1881, was cut by mistake. But it is not apparent how the mistake was made; nor is it shown that any pains or care was taken to prevent or avoid the mistake. If the mistake was the result of carelessness or indifference, it was not willful but the result of a mistake, and therefore the damages ought to be confined to the value of the timber in the tree.

On the agreement it was specifically admitted by the counsel for the plaintiff that the timber cut by the defendants in the summer of 1881, was cut by mistake. But it is not apparent how the mistake was made; nor is it shown that any pains or care was taken to prevent or avoid the mistake. If the mistake was the result of carelessness or indifference, it was not willful but the result of a mistake, and therefore the damages ought to be confined to the value of the timber in the tree.

On the agreement it was specifically admitted by the counsel for the plaintiff that the timber cut by the defendants in the summer of 1881, was cut by mistake. But it is not apparent how the mistake was made; nor is it shown that any pains or care was taken to prevent or avoid the mistake. If the mistake was the result of carelessness or indifference, it was not willful but the result of a mistake, and therefore the damages ought to be confined to the value of the timber in the tree.

On the agreement it was specifically admitted by the counsel for the plaintiff that the timber cut by the defendants in the summer of 1881, was cut by mistake. But it is not apparent how the mistake was made; nor is it shown that any pains or care was taken to prevent or avoid the mistake. If the mistake was the result of carelessness or indifference, it was not willful but the result of a mistake, and therefore the damages ought to be confined to the value of the timber in the tree.

WILSON & FISHER,

SHIP CHANDLERS.

DEALERS IN

Iron, Steel, Coal, Anchors, Chains,

TAR, PITCH, OAKUM,

NAILS AND SPIKES.

Shelf Hardware, Paints and Oils

STEAM PACKING.

PROVISIONS.

FEED AND MILL FEED.

Agents for Salem Flouring Mills, and Capital Flour.

FAIRBANKS STANDARD

SCALES.

All sizes, at Portland Prices, in Stock.

Corner Commercial and Hamilton Streets.

ASTORIA, OREGON.

J. H. D. GRAY.

Wholesale and retail dealer in.

GROCERIES, FLOUR, AND FEED

Hay, Oats, Straw, Wood, Etc.

LIME, SAND, AND CEMENT.

General Storage and Wharfage on reason able terms. Post Office Box 100, Astoria

Oregon.

H. B. PARKER.

DEALERS IN

Hay, Oats, & Straw.

Lime, Brick, Cement and Sand

Wood Delivered to Order.

Draying, Teaming and Express Business.

Horses and Carriages for Hire.

DEALERS IN

WINE, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.

FIRST CLASS.

PIANOS

—AND—

ORGANS

SMALL MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

OF ALL KINDS.

FINEST VIOLIN STRINGS.

Sheet Music.

Piano, and Organ Instruction.

—CELEBRATED—

STECK & KWABE PIANOS!

—USED BY—

President of United States

"Governor of Oregon."

Astoria Musical Society.

Mrs. J. W. Conn, of Astoria.

And other prominent persons. Pianos and organs repaired, tuned, and wholesale and retail.

—INCLUDING—

CELEBRATED TABER ORGANS.

AND WONDERFUL

LITTLE GIANT STECK PIANO

Largest House on This Coast.

GARDNER Bros.,

165 First St., Portland, Oregon.

THE BEST

Boarding and Lodging House.

Chas. Wallman has opened a boarding and lodging house south of O'Brien's Sea Lion the works.

The table is supplied with the best of the market, and good food and clean beds will be furnished at the regular prices.

Give me a call and satisfy yourself.

CHAS. WALLMAN.

S. ARNDT & FERCHEN,

ASTORIA, - OREGON.

The Pioneer Machine Shop

BLACKSMITH

SHOP

AND

Boiler Shop

All kinds of

ENGINE, CANNERY,

—AND—

STEAMBOAT WORK

Promptly attended to.

A specialty made of repairing

CANNERY DIES,

FOOT OF LAFAVETTE STREET.

ASTORIA

Brewery Beer Saloon.

The Best Beer 5 cts a Glass.

Hot Lunch every Day from 10 to 12 A. M.

The best of Liquors and Cigars on hand.

A deservedly popular place of social resort.

GEO. HILLER.

BUSINESS CARDS.

H. THOMSON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

Room No. 6, over White House,

ASTORIA, OREGON.

C. W. FULTON.

FULTON BROTHERS.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

Rooms 5 and 6, Old Fellows Building.

J. Q. A. BOWLEY.

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Chenamus street, - - ASTORIA, OREGON

C. M. ACHRAY.

Attorney at Law.

Room 4, White House.

C. J. CURTIS.

ATTY AT LAW.

Notary Public, Commissioner of Deeds for

California, New York and Washington Territories.

Rooms 5 and 6, Old Fellows Building, As-toria, Oregon.

N. B.—Claims at Washington, D. C., and collections a specialty.

A. V. ALLEN.

Astoria Agent

Hamburg-Magdeburg

and German-American

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

E. C. HOLDEN.

NOTARY PUBLIC.

AUCTIONEER, COMMISSION AND IN-SURANCE AGENT.

G. E. PARKER.

SURVEYOR OF

Clatsop County, and City of Astoria

Office - Chenamus street, Y. M. C. A. hall

Room No. 8.

D. R. C. HOATHAN.

Physician and Surgeon.

Rooms 9 and 10, Old Fellows Building,

ASTORIA, OREGON.

JAY TUTTLE, M. D.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

OFFICE—Rooms 1, 2, and 3, Pythian Building.

RESIDENCE—Over J. E. Thomas' Drug

Store.

F. P. HICKS.

DENTIST,

ASTORIA, - - - OREGON

Rooms in Allen's building up stairs, corner of Chenamus and Commercial streets.

D. R. J. E. LAFORET.

DENTIST,

Room 11, Old Fellows Building, Astoria, Or.

Gas administered for painless extraction of teeth.

GENERAL STEAMSHIP AGENCY.

Bills of Exchange on any Part of Europe.

I AM AGENT FOR THE FOLLOWING lines, and sell them at commodious steamship lines.

STATE LINE, RED STAR.

WHITE STAR.

HAMBURG-AMERICAN.

DOMINION LINE.

NATIONAL and AMERICAN LINE.

Proprietor tickets to or from any European port.

For full information as to rates of fare, passage days, etc., apply to

L. W. CASE.

GEO. P. WHEELER.

Notary Public.

W. L. ROBB.

GENERAL

Real Estate & Insurance Agents.

We have very desirable property in As-toria and Upper Astoria for sale. Also, fine farm throughout the county.

Accounts carefully adjusted and collections made.

We represent the Royal, North Union and Lancashire Insurance Co's.

With a combined capital of $300,000,000.

THE

Travelers Life and Accident Insurance Co. of Hartford, and the Manhattan Life Insurance Co.

We are agents for the Daily and Weekly

Northwest News, and the Oregon Vindicator.

All business entrusted to our care will receive prompt attention.

POSTPONE YOUR PURCHASES! Till I Return. INCREASING BUSINESS DEMANDS New Goods!

TILL MY RETURN FROM SAN FRANCISCO
The Following Prices Hold Good:
5 Cents Each.

Fireside Companion, N. Y. Weekly Ledger, Saturday Night, Arm Chair, Family Story Paper, Boys of New York, Weeks Doings, Texas Sittings, S. F. Chronicle, Call, Oregonian, News and Astorian, etc., etc.

8 Cts.,